

The School of Social Work is pleased to offer a dedicated space for breastfeeding mothers. The lactation room (TTK, Room 216) offers a secure, comfortable, private, and quiet space for nursing students, faculty, and staff to pump their milk. The room contains a comfortable chair, desk space, refrigerator, electrical outlet, and cleaning supplies. To use the room on an ongoing basis, you must register with Academic and Student Affairs and complete the Lactation Room Participation Agreement and submit it to Tiffany Carver - Room 370A. Upon completion of the agreement form, you will be given the access code to the lactation room.

If you have a guest in our building that needs a private place to breastfeed or express milk, please contact one of the following staff members to gain access to the room:

Academic & Student Affairs:	Tiffany Carver, Room 370A Beth Sauer, Room 370D
