Brief Summary of Work Experience:

Carmen Crosby, Ph.D., MSW, LMSW-Clinical and Macro is an independent consultant who frequently trains and advises health care providers, educational institutions, and other service organizations. Her consulting practice allows her to translate culturally and theoretically relevant research into ethically driven, clinical and macro practice. Carmen worked and researched in the areas of sexual and interpersonal violence and trauma-focused, multi-tiered interventions for individuals that perpetrate, experience, and respond to violence. Her experience spans more than two decades of work with individuals recovering from complex trauma to organizations wanting policy and value congruence.

Dr. Crosby's most recent publications are in the Journal of Interpersonal Violence, Violence and Aggression, and the Journal of American College Health. Carmen earned her Ph.D. from the University of North Carolina-Chapel Hill where she focused on the development, application, and evaluation of prevention initiatives and research. Carmen obtained both her MSW with a concentration in Interpersonal Practice with Children, Youth, Families, and Society and her BA in Psychology, from the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor.
