TEACHING STATEMENT

I view my teaching as an opportunity to develop our future workforce who, in turn, make a positive impact on individuals, families, and communities. Maximizing this opportunity depends on creating a lively, thought-provoking, and safe environment where allowing oneself to feel moderately vulnerable is part and parcel to learning and growth. I attempt to achieve this through three primary approaches: 1) rich exploration of applicable theory, 2) robust use of real-world examples, and 3) activities allowing students to experience the course material.

GRANTS

- ◆ Recipient of a 2020 UNC Summer School Teaching With Technology Mini-Grant Program.
- ◆ Lead trainer for a NC Division of MHDDSAS. Met or exceeded all grant benchmarks for the past five years.
- ◆ Content expert and trainer for the Interprofessional Substance Use Disorder Education and Training SAMHSA grant under the leadership of Lisa Zerden.
